

RESEARCH CENTRES

SCIENTIFIC REPORT

The justifying scientific report on the establishment of an Institute must include at least:

- a) Denomination.
- b) The Institute objectives and lines of research which will have to be defined within the priority lines of the Framework Programme, the National or Andalusian Plans for Research, Development and Innovation, as well as the possibilities of Knowledge Transfer.
- c) Justification of the social and scientific needs related to such objectives, taking into account the interdisciplinary nature or the high degree of specialisation, as well as other university structures insufficiency to reach them.
- d) Preceding activities which might provide the nucleus for the future institute.
- e) Quadrennial activities Programme defining the indicators for all the activities effective follow-up, quality assessment and degree of goals achieved.
- f) Human resources, specifying the institute researchers and the different research groups. All researchers will have to establish their degree of dedication.
- g) Available material resources.
- h) Teaching activities scheduled.